Dear Former Student of Briceville Elementary School:

Have you decided what to do with the rest of your life? We suggest you get involved in the Coal Creek Scholars Program. Let us help you go to college just as we did for Briceville students shown below and as described in the Clinton Courier News article at <http://www.coalcreekaml.com/newsCour122913.pdf>. Trust us... If they can graduate from high school and go to college to become prosperous members of society, then so can you.

It's easy, just volunteer on our community service projects as described at www.coalcreekaml.com, and complete an essay on "Improving the Quality of Life in the Coal Creek Watershed" when you are a high school senior. In return for receiving college scholarship money from us, you must agree to serve as a mentor to current Briceville students at our annual Coal Creek Scholars Day event.

Why would you want to go to college? An individual with a college degree will likely make a million dollars more during his or her career than an individual with only a high school diploma. The best part will come when your former teachers at Briceville School parade you in front of current students as a role model at a future Scholars Day event, because that's just how you'll feel... like a million bucks!

So what are you waiting on? You're burning daylight! Contact us for more details.

Sincerely,

Barry Thacker
